Pitcher Shenn "Comes Back," Walloping Petersburg Club in Very Positive Fashion

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Norfolk, Va., June 25.—Jack Shenn, who was reported missing from the Norfolk team some days ago "came back" with a vengeance to-day and held the heavy-hitting Goobers in the palm of his hand.

He did not appear to exert himself, but he was tight in the pinches and did not permit himself to get in many holes. Richmond, who started the game for Petersburg, was driven from the box in the sixth inning, after three hits and as many runs were made. Hedgepeth, who succeeded him did not face him hit safely and Vandine, who followed, put the ball over the right field bleachers for a homer. The entire Petersburg team protested when Umpire Kelly called Vandine's hit fair.

ball, but to no avail. The umpire fear by ten feet, but Heinie Busch tested so vigorously that the umpire threatened to put him on the bench.
When Heinie went on the coaching line in the next inning he got in an argument with Pitcher Shenn, and was chased to his seat by the umpire. The score:

Attractive Awards Are Drawing Long List of Entries. Keen Rivalry.

Boy Scouts of Richmond and vicinity are busy getting themselves in trim for the first annual track meet of the scouts, which is to be held Saturday, and which, both in variety of events and in keen competition, will be a meet of exceptional interest. Already about forty applications, representing six different troops, have been received at headquarters.

Two cups and a number of medals will be awarded to winners in various events. One of the cups has been given by O. H. Berry & Company and the other by the Evening Journal. Both are very handsome trophies, inscribed with the date, name of the event and of the winner.

There is especially keen interest between Barton Heights Troop and Richmond Troop, No. 12, although its members are not doing much talking, is said to be in a more athletic spirit of a higher order.

One of the most interesting events will be the 400 yard relay. It will be run by four boys on each side, each competitor to run 110 yards.

BUSCH IS AFTER PITCHER WELLER

Norfolk, Va., June 25.—Heintz Busch, manager of the Petersburg team is about to make another raid on the United States navy in search of more pitchers. Since obtaining Reuben Cooper from the ranks of Uncle Sam's enlisted men, Busch keeps his ear to ground every time he hears some one Weller had a try-out in Texas early this spring, but the young sailor did not get the place and returned to his ship. He is an apprentice seaman and hails from the West. He has only lost one game this season, and being only a boy, Busch believes he has the making of a good twirler.

If Weller can get his discharge from the navy it is probable that Busch will let him sign a contract to pitch for Petersburg.

Jury Finds There Was Negligence in Not Reducing Speed.

London, June 25.—In a test case brought in the Kings' bench division by Thomas B. Clark, master of the Celtic, against the White Star Steamship Company to recover damages for loss of cargo, the jury today found the master of April, 1911, they handed down the following verdict:

"There was no negligence regarding the loss of cargo, but there was negligence in not reducing speed. There is not sufficient evidence to show that the captain was negligent in the Mesaba reporting to the steamship company as a responsible officer of the Titanic."

As the judge had left the court judgment was entered for the company.

Covers were laid for twenty-six, and everything was prepared and served by the girls of the Haytocal Club, costumed in becoming caps and aprons. Several prominent demonstrators and educators were present.

"In thus terminating my official connection with this court," said McNab, "I cannot refrain from expressing to Your Honor my profound appreciation at the justness with which you've treated all litigants without regard to wealth or station or their connection with the government.

Mr. McNab, I'd be stating less than the truth if I failed to express my sincere regret. Without referring to the circumstances which have led to your departure, I want to say that the government is losing the most efficient, vigorous and painstaking prosecuting official we have had at this end of the Department of Justice."

McNab then issued a statement, in which he said:

"The Attorney-General knew all of this, but cared not whether this office was charged with corruption or not, so long as his rich and influential friends were satisfied.

"One of two things is true. Either the Attorney-General withheld from the President my repeated messages of warning that corrupt influences were dominating the Government and postponement of reform was fatal, or official Washington is neither sensitive nor responsive to the charges of corruption in its public service."

"The Attorney-General never made such a suggestion until he was caught stifling the cases to death with orders to postpone until autumn. If it was proper to postpone these cases to death and refuse to allow the United States attorney's office to try them without cost to the government, why is it now necessary to rush with hot-footed haste to trial with a long array of expensive special counsel, the ablest we can obtain?"

"The Attorney-General proposes to retain special counsel to do so for a princely fee what my office was anxious

The whole subject was deferred on account of the congested engagement list of the President, practically every moment of his time from early morning until late at night being occupied with conferences on currency and departmental matters. It is expected that the Attorney-General and the President will confer early to-morrow, however, and possibly on Tuesday or possibly three men to conduct the prosecution of the cases.

No further comment was forthcoming from the White House or the Department of Justice on the statements

The bankers virtually were in accord with the idea of increasing the amount of Federal reserve treasury notes above $500,000,000, or placing no limit on the issue and retiring the $712,000,000 of currency now secured by 2 per cent bonds within a period of several years by refunding the 2 per cent bonds with 3 per cent bonds, having no circulation privilege.
